

Vice President Jacque Hostler-Carmesin, of McKinleyville, was appointed to the Commission on June 4, 2013. She is also the Co-Chair for the California Fish and Game Commission Tribal Committee and worked collaboratively to create the Commission's first Tribal Consultation Policy. Jacque is a native of Northern California and has lived and worked in Humboldt County her entire life. She has close ties to the Tribal Communities as well as the environmental, fishing and hunting communities in California. Her years of working in Indian Country, specializing in large infrastructure projects, marine issues, natural resources and transportation has enabled her to lend expertise to local, state, and national committees. It was Jacque's involvement with the MLPA process and recognition of the impact the MLPA has on Tribal Nations that led to her interest in the California Fish and Game Commission, and the National Ocean Policy Governance Coordinating Committee.
